

Feeding the Planet, Energy for Life

The Rio+20 conference represents the most important global multi-stakeholder forum on sustainable development. It addresses priority areas for global sustainability, including themes directly relating to Expo Milano 2015 such as food security, sustainable agriculture, water and sustainable cities. Expo Milano 2015, "Feeding the Planet, Energy for Life" is a global forum to discover new ways of thinking about food, sustainability and cooperation as well as a place to experience innovative technologies and ideas for our planet.

Expo Milano 2015 will be in Rio to begin a lasting global conversation, striving to keep it alive and to continue it through 2015 and beyond. A debate which will be open for discussion and suggestions from institutions, companies, organizations and citizens, aiming to develop a common language and a shared vision to meet global environmental and humanitarian challenges.
